Project EduAccess

Access to higher education is a privilege most people from marginalised communities are systematically denied through cost, information and dispositional barriers.

Project EduAccess is a modest attempt to improve inclusivity in HEIs by removing these barriers for marginalized communities in South Asia.

We hope to achieve this by providing expert mentorship, support and guidance to learners in South Asia.

Selection Criteria

The selection criteria are:

1. Outstanding intellectual ability

Candidates must show evidence of academic excellence (through transcripts, references, experience and potential to succeed on the course). Academic departments at the University of Cambridge nominate only the most academically outstanding applicants for this scholarship.

2. Reasons for choice of course

Candidates should be able to make a strong case for their chosen degree and how completing the course will facilitate their career plans; research applicants are expected to make contact with a potential supervisor with whom they will develop a research project; must demonstrate academic background, necessary skills and expertise to complete the course

Selection Criteria

3. A commitment to improving the lives of others

This criterion is interpreted broadly. Applicants define it themselves by providing evidence of past, current and future commitment to the societies in which they will live and work.

4. Leadership potential.

Candidates must be able to demonstrate a capacity for leadership, which can be expressed in a multitude of ways. Applicants should provide evidence of their leadership experience to date and indicate the ways in which their leadership skills may have impact in the future careers.

How to apply

- Apply along with application for admission via the University's Graduate Application Portal by completing the Gates Cambridge part of the funding section.
- When applying for a Gates Cambridge Scholarship in the funding section of your application, you will be asked to provide
  - A Gates Cambridge statement: 3000 characters (approximately 500 words) on why you are applying for the scholarship and how you meet the four selection criteria
  - A Research Proposal (PhD applicants only)
  - A Gates Cambridge reference: In addition to two academic references for admission, Gates Cambridge applicants must arrange for someone to submit a reference setting out how they meet the scholarship's criteria.
- Gates Cambridge has access to the full application for admission and funding when reviewing applications.

How scholars are selected

Two stages: Departmental nomination and interview

- Departmental nomination

Academic departments in Cambridge must nominate a small number of eligible applicants who meet all four of the scholarship's criteria to a very high level. A small number of those who apply for a Gates Cambridge Scholarship are nominated by departments.

- Interview

All candidates nominated by academic departments are invited to a short interview to assess how they meet all four Gates Cambridge criteria. The 20-25 minute interview may be virtual or in person, with four subject-based interview panels: arts, biological sciences, physical sciences, social sciences. Scholars are then selected after interview.

<https://www.gatescambridge.org/apply/how-we-select/>

Each interview has four main sections:

1. Welcome and introduction

- The Chair will introduce the panel, set out the format of the interview, and provide any other essential information to allow for a productive conversation.

2. Gates Cambridge

- What you know about the Gates Cambridge Scholarships
- Your motivation for applying
- Why you think you could be a Gates Cambridge Scholar
- Your thoughts on the opportunities and responsibilities that a prestigious, full-cost scholarship at one of the world's leading universities brings

3. Academic and career plans

- Your academic work to date – can you convincingly communicate your passion for, and the importance of, your chosen subject?
- Your proposed degree at Cambridge – can you provide a convincing justification for your choice of course at Cambridge?
- Your career plans – can you convincingly link your application for both a Gates Cambridge Scholarship and your proposed course at Cambridge to your future career plans?
- You may also be asked probing intellectual or ethical questions, to which there are no 'right' answers

4. Final thoughts and questions

- A chance to convey any additional information and/or ask any questions to the interview panel (optional)

General Tips

- Start early
You'll need time to write your statement, proofread it, edit it, let it rest, revise it and pass it around for feedback. Give yourself enough time to do all this.
- Answer the questions
When you finish your first draft, take a break for a day or two; then return to the original prompt and make sure your statement answers it.
- Write properly
Proofread, proofread, proofread. Ask your instructors to give it a read-through. Upload it to Grammarly or the Hemingway App. Use all available resources to make sure your writing is impeccable.

General Tips

- Show, don't tell
Rather than just making simple descriptive statements about yourself or your skills, show this through examples of when you applied this skill or demonstrated a character trait.
- Pick a good referee
Your Gates referee should be able to speak to how you meet all 4 of the qualifying criteria, so pick carefully. In your overall application, make sure your academic referee clarifies how you rank in your class (top 5% etc).
